

In the language of St. Lovegood, the new party "is helping the goldbugs to a heap of hurtin'." The gold press advises the people to stay with the old parties and organize "sound" money, or gold clubs, for the purpose of discommodating single standard literature. The independent press sees in the new party the elements of success and is disposed to believe that the old parties will go to the wall. The Washington Times, published under the shadow of the National Capitol, says of the new party:

The tendency of thought among some politicians is unmistakable in the direction of cutting a way from old party lines. The financial question, to them has assumed such large proportions as to no longer be susceptible of party environment. Whether or not the exigencies of the situation or the gravity of the situation are sufficient to cause the disruption of the two great parties is a most perplexing question. It cannot be answered. The time for answering has passed. Reason, cold and unflinching, confronts the Democratic and the Republican alike. Sectionalism has given place to nationalism. The friends of silver are found in the miner's cabin of the West and in the palatial home of the East.

The grave question of governmental policy now is an important, more important than any which have confronted us since the great Civil War. The question is not a party question, but a national question. Many wars which have been waged without the shedding of blood have, in their tremendous results, shaped the destiny of nations. Shall this bloodless battle change the whole map of political affairs? Is it possible that the party born of the wisdom of Jefferson, and which has gone through experience and has been approved by any other political organization, is fated to receive its death-blow by the hands of its own sons?

The suggestion made by these advocates for the formation of a silver party, that a candidate for the Presidency be now selected and a campaign of education be at once commenced, can certainly bode no good to the Democratic or to the Republican. It is fraught with possibilities so stupendous and far-reaching that it bids us imperative pause. What possibilities are possible? It appeals to sentiment and to reason. Its effect will be beyond the grasp of mortal ken. Such intense earnestness seldom meets defeat. Whatever may eventuate, one consolation overshadows all else—and that is that Jeffersonian Democracy will ever live, though it may be called by another name.

The principles enunciated by Jefferson will live as long as liberty. Jefferson was elected by the Republicans, and not until Jackson's time was there a distinctive Democratic national party. The present administration, though nominally Democratic, is opposed in theory and practice to the principles of Jefferson, and a new party is necessary to uphold those principles, as they have been discarded by Cleveland Democrats as well as by the Republicans, between whom there is very little difference, except in name.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

The report of the Bureau of Statistics shows that during the month of February the value of exports amounted to $56,803,513 and of imports to $58,356,352. For the eight months ended February 23, 1895, the excess of exports over imports was $91,967,942, as against $2,801,832 for the eight months ended February 23, 1891.

The gold exports during February, 1895, amounted to $1,565,191, and the imports to $5,632,187. For the eight months ending February 23, the gold exports amounted to $5,431,767, and the imports to $16,025,325.

The exportations of silver during the month of February amounted to $3,071,331, and the imports to $332,923. For the eight months ended March 1, the exports of silver exceeded the imports by $2,851,336.

There is no demand for silver in the United States, except for use in the arts. The Government will not coin it nor permit the mints to coin it for the people. The policy is to issue bonds in stead of coining silver, and the bullion is exported instead of being made into money. The two old political parties of the country are committed to this policy and every attempt on the part of the silver men to dissuade the people from upholding those parties is ridiculed by the hirelings of the Gold Trust.

AMERICAN WOOLLEN IN ENGLAND.

The advocates of the Wilson Tariff bill asserted that with free raw materials American manufacturers could compete with the European manufacturers in all the markets of the world. Now the State Department reports indicate that the assertion was well founded. According to these reports, which are based upon the official statement of Consul Meeker at Bradford, England, American woollen goods are being sold at a profit in Great Britain. Consul Meeker states that he finds the representative of a New York mercantile establishment, who is now in England, buying English cloth of a certain grade to sell in the United States, and selling American cloth of a certain grade at a profit in the greatest woollen market in England. A Bradford merchant, the Consul says, showed him samples of American woollen cloth, suitable for men's clothing, which were purchased in England for 50 and 60 cents a yard. The Bradford merchant stated that the goods were of a superior grade, being made of short wool, and he was astonished to find that they could be produced in America and sold at such a low figure.

Consul Meeker says he will continue his investigations, and if the facts are as represented, the prediction made by those who advocated the passage of the Wilson bill will be verified.

A WOMAN'S DEVOTION.

he Married Her Lover in Jail and Secured His Pardon. CHICAGO, March 16.—After the jail wedding of Miss Lulu Keiver and William F. Bagley, January 25, the bride promised her husband that she would do all in her power to secure his release before the expiration of his year's term. Governor Altgeld has now pardoned Bagley, and as soon as the formalities can be carried out he will be free to thank his wife for her fidelity to his cause. Bagley was a Hyde Park jeweler who ran away with watches left with him to be repaired, spent a few days in Cincinnati, was arrested, brought back, indicted, tried and sentenced. At the time of his lapse from the right he was paying court to Miss Keiver, who refused to renounce him and they were married in jail. Since that time the young bride has been working to secure her husband's pardon and to-day her efforts were rewarded.

SUING FOR PEACE.

China on Her Knees Before Japan. TIENTSIN, March 16.—Victory Li Jung Chang, the Chinese Peace Envoy to Japan, left Tientsin last evening for Japan.

It is reported here that the Japanese are rapidly repulsing the Chinese Generals, Sung and Ju.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Minister Denby has called the State Department confirming the report of the departure of Li Hung Chang from Shanghai for Japan. He says the Viceroy sailed in royal state, with 130 persons embarked on two ships. The negotiations will be conducted at Simanoseki, on the southwestern coast of Japan, instead of Hiroshima. The change was made to accommodate the Chinese.

Trouble in Brazil.

BRENOIS AYRES, March 16.—A dispatch from Rio de Janeiro says: The cadets in the military school have broken out in revolt. The Government is exercising strict censorship over telegraphic companies.

The Theater Last Night.

A fair audience attended the performance at the Opera House last evening. The company was very good, but the general opinion was that the piece was out and hurried. Little Baby Sinnet deserves special mention, and Mr. H. Liston, being an old Nevada, was appreciated. J. K. Emmet is mediocre, and if he assumes to be a representative of the original Emmet in this line of business he is a failure.

Fire Near Fort Bidwell.

Lawrence Haslund received a letter from Fort Bidwell yesterday, in which was mentioned the total destruction by fire on March 13th of the dwelling of S. J. Geran, an old resident of that place. Very little of the household goods were saved, the inmates barely having time to escape. The fire is supposed to have started from a defective chimney. Mrs. Geran was helplessly ill at the time.

Viati Tablets.

Viati is now being prepared in a special form for the stomach. We have realized for a long time that the membrane of the stomach, being similar to the membrane of other portions of the body, could, if this remedy were applied in a pre-digested form, be greatly strengthened. The preparation has the same action in the stomach as the natural juices, whose strength has decreased when stomach trouble exists. To prepare Viati in this form has taken nearly two years of constant effort, and it is probably the only instance on record where a preparation has been made in a form already digested, requiring no action or effort on the part of the system to assimilate it.

The Tablets should be used wherever there is inflammation, congestion, or catarrh of the stomach and bowels. Indigestion, properly speaking, is a catarrhal condition of the stomach and bowels and prevents them from changing the foods into the proper substances for absorption.

A Chance for Lovely Bright Homes.

Ten 20-acre tracts, close to Reno, for sale at $30 per acre. Also blocks or lots in the new University Addition at the head of Virginia street—bargains. Now is a good time to improve the opportunity. See C. C. Downing at the Water Company's office. feb3m1

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature has adjourned without day. It was nominally in session fifty-five days, but in reality several days less, as the notion that it was in session daily from the time that it convened passed for a fact. The members collectively were fully up to the average of former Legislatures intellectually and industrially. There was no division on strict party lines since the organization of the Senate and House. Silver men and Republicans voted for or against measures according to their individual interests or inclinations. There seemed to be a general disposition among members, except in a few instances, to work for the welfare of the State. An independent spirit was manifested by many of the members of the Assembly though there was a disposition in that body toward the treasury more for the services of the members than the public deemed those services worth. The Senate throughout was a very conservative and dignified body. Taken all in all the Seventeenth session of the Nevada Legislature will compare favorably with any of the sessions which preceded it.

AT PARTING.
Forgive me, dearest, if I look too long upon you as I look That I would learn, and so Must strain my eyes in reading, but To feel the joyous life will shut Before the end I know.

Forgive me, dearest, if I touch These braided tresses overmuch. This little curl I press With thought of days when, far apart, No tender wife of lover's art Can make the distance less.

Forgive me, dearest, if too near I hold, your slightest word to hear. I listen now, you see, For words that you may try to speak Some tender moment when too weak Your voice for reading lies.

—Bertha G. Davis in Kate Field's Washington.

MANUFACTURING BRAINS.
Imbecile Children and How They Are Improved Mentally.
The education of the imbecile is one requiring an infinite number of repetitions of a message, which at the outset must be unusually sharp and clear and unconfusing. If it is the sight and hearing which are to be improved, the pupil is placed in a dark room, and into its darkness a single ray of bright light is admitted. And when this startling and antithetical phenomenon has caught and riveted the child's attention, by repetition, a slide is passed through the beam of light, with sharply defined forms painted or engraved upon it—simple forms, too, such as the square or triangle or star. Then the names of these figures are clearly and distinctly and repeatedly pronounced, the name sounded each time the object is exhibited.

This is an example of the necessities of an extreme case—a very apathetic and unobedient child. Usually it will be sufficient to exhibit objects by lifting them from the table and simultaneously telling their names. This must be done over and over again until the nerve fibers and brain cells are stimulated into readier action and developed into fuller and more perfect performances of normal functions.

The imbecile child's brain is improved in the same way as the biceps muscles are more and more enlarged. This is done by the repeated use of small dumbbells at first and then by the gradual substitution of heavier and heavier weights.

The tenure of human life is so short that all that can be done for such extreme types is to enliven the disenthralled mental sense. It would require an eternity to tune up the five physical senses. Nervous idiots are much more promising pupils and show remarkable mental improvement in a short time. But the physical senses are always improved with the improvement of the moral sense. A child who has been taught how not to be an animal indoors will have more appreciation of color, and a child who has learned not to cry and scream on the slightest pretext will have a far better regulated sense of touch, smell and hearing.—New York Advertiser.

Penalties For Careless Coachmen.
When an omnibus or a cab driver runs over a foot passenger in London streets, the possible loss of a license exercises a wholesome restraint. The private coachman and the driver of the tradesman's cart have far less compunction in teaching an old gentleman to get out of their way by running him down. At the worst, they are fined. Not infrequently their fines are paid by a sympathetic employer. But no one pays a poor cabman's fines, and the loss of a license in addition means the loss of his means of a livelihood.

In Paris, we believe, the driver of a fiacre is generally allowed by the law to run over one bourgeois in the course of a year. In London magistrates are less lenient. Moreover, the law makes an unfair and arbitrary distinction between the cabman's case and that of the unlicensed driver. The former is liable to be removed from the box for good and all. The driver of the cart may continue to urge on his wild career, though he destroys several citizens in the course of the year.—London Spectator.

Detected.
The Marquis of Waterford once showed remarkable detective skill. A robber, who had broken into the marquis's house at Curraghmore, Ireland, was pursued by him and followed to a public house four miles off.

There the robber had seated himself among a number of men, who were drinking and smoking, and not one of them would betray him. The marquis, however, was master of the situation.

He insisted upon feeling all their hearts, and as he was their landlord and the great man of the county not one dared to refuse. The man whose heart was still beating quickly was the robber, who had just ceased running.—Youth's Companion.

Elks Broken to Harness.
There is a novelty at the stock yards that is attracting the attention of every one. It is a team of elks, standing nearly 10 hands high, broken to harness and as gentle and obedient as horses. They have been brought in from Montana and are awaiting a purchaser in one of the big pens in the yards. The elks have been domesticated, and their owner, G. S. Shayan, has driven them about his ranch for several years.—Chicago Tribune.

The Feast of Asen.
The Festival Asenim, or feast of asen, was formerly held Jan. 14 to commemorate the flight into Egypt. There are still extant several rituals of this festival. One, of Beauvais, in France, orders the priest to bray three times and the congregation to respond each time in a similar manner. An ass, decorated with costly coverings, was led to the altar in a procession and with much noise and confusion.
